

LFB Radio Network

The Louisiana Farm Bureau Radio Network is the largest agricultural radio network in Louisiana, reaching 24 affiliates all across the state. We have a variety of programs that air at the times when farmers need them, with market news, analysis and the latest events in agriculture.

Over the past five years our network has expanded tremendously, thanks to our personal service, solid news reporting and customized coverage of major Louisiana row crops and livestock. In addition to offering informative local news features, we also present national and international news and tell Louisiana producers how actions on the national scene will affect their operations here at home.
